

WHAT IS CLAIMED IS:

1. A moisturizing hairdressing apparatus comprising:
 - a main unit for generating steam to moisturize one's hair;
 - a handpiece movably attached to said main unit;
 - an injection chamber, which is accommodated in said handpiece and which receives the steam supplied through a pipe connected to the bottom part thereof from the main-unit; and
 - an injecting tube which receives the steam through an inlet provided at one end thereof and which injects the steam to one's hair through a nozzle provided at the other end thereof, wherein
 - an outlet of said pipe is positioned between the nozzle and the inlet of said injecting tube.
2. The moisturizing hairdressing apparatus as set forth in claim 1, wherein said injection chamber is provided with a slanted face located from its front face on which said nozzle of said injecting tube is disposed, toward its bottom face connected to said pipe.
